* Indicates a required field.

- * 1. Salutation. When we address correspondence to you throughout the admissions season, it is our general practice to use a prefix and your last name. We have provided the most commonly selected choices, but would welcome your designating any prefix you prefer (e.g., Rev., Lieut.). (If you prefer not to choose a prefix, we will address you by your chosen first name in our correspondence.)

We love it when you select an honorific, so we can give you an old-school greeting in correspondence; we're devotees of Miss Manners. But if you prefer none at all, that's an option too! We want to address you however YOU want to be addressed.

- * 3. Chosen or preferred first name

Is your given name Andrew, but everyone calls you Andy? Contrariwise, does Andy make you cringe? Do you have a middle name you prefer to your first name? Do you have a nickname we would never guess from your given name, like Bubba or Seven? Or perhaps you've chosen a name that matches your gender identity. Let us know what to call you; we really like to get that right.

Please be aware that if you chose not to provide your Social Security number on your application but then later apply for federal financial aid, your FAFSA will not reach us! You should reach out to our Financial Aid folks to discuss. But even if you provide your social security number in the application, please do not include it in email correspondence with our office; instead, please use your LSAC account number for identification, or better yet, the 8-digit UMID number we'll send you shortly after we receive your application. This is helpful even if your name is unusual; you'd be amazed at the amount of overlap in names within an applicant pool in a given year.

3. If you are admitted, we may ask faculty, alumni, or students with shared interests or backgrounds to be in touch with you so they can communicate about the Law School. Select "No" below only if you do NOT wish to be contacted.

☐ No

We often send questions or updates by email. Please provide an email address that will be good throughout the season—or make sure to email us promptly if you need to update your records. And at the risk of sounding exactly like every website in the world that wants to sell you something: PLEASE add law.jd.admissions@umich.edu to your safe-senders list, so we don't end up in your junk email. (Also, we need your assistance with our bank account... oh, never mind.)

While the following may seem like a painfully obvious observation, we've known people to get confused: Please note the "NOT" in this sentence! Also, please note that we will be reaching out only after you are admitted—we otherwise will leave you in peace. In other words, the default mode is that people may contact you if you are admitted, and this question is meant to let you avoid that if you're so inclined. We assure you that the number of contacts will be minimal. And of course, we're always happy to switch a "yes" to a "no" if you get sick of hearing from us. We promise not to weep. Not TOO much, anyway.

This isn't a question about your mailing address or your permanent home, but about where you are living right this minute! We are often wandering around the country in the spring, and if we know where you are, we might be able to meet up with you! Our drop-down menu lists the top 200 largest US metro areas (Ann Arbor is #148!) as well as a number of the largest cities internationally. If none of these is correct, just select "other" and fill in the blank.

4. Program

* 1. Please indicate whether you are applying under the regular decision or the Early Decision program.

- ☒ Early Decision (deadline November 15)
☐ Regular Decision (deadline February 28)

For Early Decision applicants: I have applied under the binding Early Decision program. I understand that the deadline for applying is November 15. I further understand that I must submit an LSAT score from the October 2026 administration or earlier, and that all my application materials must be received by the Admissions Office by November 15 to ensure that I meet the deadline (with the exception that the Law School Report and LSAT score may not be available until later if I sat for the October 2026 administration).

* 1a. If the University of Michigan Law School offers me admission under this plan by December 15, I agree to commit to attend the School, as well as to withdraw all applications pending at other law schools and not to initiate any new applications.

* 2. Please indicate if you have applied, are enrolled in, or will be applying this year for another University of Michigan graduate or professional degree program, in addition to the JD.

- ☒ Yes
☐ No

Early decision is a big commitment—we like to think we’re worth it,  but we urge you to think carefully and do loads of research. The literal last thing we want is someone who has committed to attend and is unhappy about it. For more guidance, check out this episode of the A2Z vlog.

Please remember that you will need to apply separately to any other program. The admissions processes of individual programs are administered completely independently, so admission to one program does not guarantee admission to another. Also, please bear in mind that different programs operate on different decisional timelines, and you may hear from one program long before you hear from another. Finally, if you are admitted to the Law School and another program, you should contact us ASAP if you wish to begin your JD study in any term other than the one specified in our offer of admission to you.

While we can electronically access applications from previous years, we do not routinely do so; we instead rely on the materials you submit for the current application season.

☐ October 2026

☐ November 2026

☐ January 2027

☐ February 2027

☐ April 2027

☐ June 2027

Please note that Michigan does not accept the GRE or other tests in lieu of the LSAT, unless you are already enrolled in another University of Michigan graduate program.

Be forewarned that if you plan to take the April or June LSAT test as your first LSAT, the chances are high that you will be applying after we have admitted virtually the entire class. If you plan to have one of these sittings be a do-over, for either admission or scholarship purposes, it may or may not be too late for us to take it into account—it will depend on how competitive the admissions season as a whole has been.

We could think of no useful guidance for this set of questions, but nature abhors a vacuum. We therefore offer up this quote from Kurt Vonnegut (in Wampeters, Foma & Granfalloon) for your consideration: “[I]t was obvious to me that I had at least one thing in common with Joseph Conrad: English was my second language. Unlike Conrad, I had no first language, so I went to work . . . with pen and pencil and scissors and paste, to make it appear that speaking my native tongue and thinking about important matters came very easily to me.”

9. Residency

* Indicates a required field.

Eligibility for In-State Tuition

In-state status for tuition and admissions purposes is determined by criteria set forth in the University's Guidelines for Qualifying for In-State Tuition, which can be found, along with the application for in-state tuition, at <https://ro.umich.edu/tuition-residency/residency>. Questions pertaining to your in-state status should be addressed to the staff of the Residency Classification Office, University of Michigan Office of the Registrar, 2200 Student Activities Building, 515 East Jefferson Street, Ann Arbor, MI 48109-1316, phone number 734-647-3507.

* 1. Do you meet the eligibility criteria for in-state tuition according to the Guidelines for Qualifying for In-State Tuition?

☒ Yes
☐ No

* 1a. If yes, since:

* 1b. If yes, county of residence:

Select Item ▼

If you answered yes and any of the following circumstances applies, please be aware that you must file an application for in-state tuition and be approved in order to be considered in-state for tuition purposes:

- You currently live outside of Michigan (for any purpose, including, but not limited to, education, volunteer activities, travel, or employment).
- You have attended a college outside of Michigan.
- You have lived or worked outside of Michigan in the last 3 years.
- You are not a US citizen.
- Your spouse, partner, or parent is in Michigan as a nonresident student, medical resident, fellow, or for military assignment or other temporary employment.
- You are 24 years of age or younger and a parent lives outside of Michigan.
- You are 24 years of age or younger and attended a high school outside the state of Michigan.
- You previously attended any U-M campus (Ann Arbor, Dearborn, or Flint) as a nonresident.

Other circumstances may also require you to file a residency application.

If you have previously been affiliated with the University of Michigan, please let us know:

2. Your username (...@umich.edu)

3. Your 8-digit UMID (located on your M-Card)

Please note: If you are a current or previous UM affiliate (whether a student or employee at any campus, or even just a summer camper), you will have personal and contact information in Wolverine Access. That information overrides any information you provide in this application, and we cannot alter it. Please make sure to visit Wolverine Access to update and correct your records as necessary.

Even if you were just briefly a student or employee, you likely still have a username and UMID. The University has a very long memory and a very large database.

At the risk of being tiresome, we want to emphasize this point: If you have a Wolverine Access record and it is inconsistent with the information you provide in your application, there will unfortunately be a processing delay in order for us to contact you and ask that you make the corrections.

If you answer yes to this question, but some of the exceptions apply to you, the University initially will classify you as a nonresident by default. We will send you an explanatory letter and a form that will allow you to apply for in-state tuition. This initial classification is not a final determination, so don't think you're forever labeled a nonresident. In fact, please be assured that because we've seen this issue many times before, we are, even prior to an official University determination, quite likely to recognize that you qualify for in-state tuition if that is in fact the case. Finally, because the in-state classification process is wholly separate from our admissions process, you can complete your law school application prior to beginning the in-state application process—the two processes will proceed independently of each other. If you identify as in-state and are admitted and choose to enroll, our conditions of offer require that you apply for in-state status by May 15, so that the University has adequate time to make a formal determination prior to the start of your first semester.

10. Conduct

* Indicates a required field.

While answering the two questions below, when in doubt, err on the side of full disclosure, as the failure to fully answer any question may result in exclusion from law school or denial of the opportunity to take a state bar examination. Note that an affirmative answer to either question does not necessarily preclude or even prejudice admission. Your answer will be reviewed on an individual basis in relation to all aspects of your experience, academic achievement, and potential. (Please be aware: In addition to a bar examination, there are character, fitness, and other qualifications for admission to the bar in every US jurisdiction. Applicants are encouraged to determine the requirements for any jurisdiction in which they intend to seek admission by contacting the jurisdiction. Addresses for all relevant agencies are available through the National Conference of Bar Examiners at <http://www.ncbex.org/jurisdictions>.) You must submit a supplementary statement with any affirmative responses; provide complete details, including dates and resolution.

If, following your completion of this application but prior to matriculation, matters arise that would require you to answer yes to either question, supplement your application with complete details.

- * 1. Have you ever been subject to disciplinary action for academic or other reasons in any of the colleges, universities, graduate or professional schools you have attended, or are such charges pending or expected to be brought against you?

☐ Yes
☐ No

- * 2. Have you ever been convicted of a crime (following a jury or bench trial, a guilty plea, or a nolo contendere plea), or charged with a criminal offense that was later dismissed as a result of a plea bargain or alternative sentencing arrangement, or are such criminal charges pending or expected to be brought against you? Include misdemeanors and criminal infractions, as well as any interaction with a law enforcement agency that resulted in payment of a fine or order of community service. Your answer should include matters that have been expunged. Do not include minor traffic violations or civil infractions or citations for which jail time was not a potential penalty.

☐ Yes
☐ No

We are not unaware of inequities in law enforcement and we have therefore endeavored to frame this question narrowly.

For an extended discussion of what happens when you check “no” but the answer is actually “yes,” please take a look at the A2Z blog on our website and search for “cover-up.” If you need more guidance, please feel free to contact us by phone at 734.764.0537 or by email at law.jd.admissions@umich.edu.

By “details,” we mean the facts of what occurred—not just data points like the date and specific charge and so forth, but a narrative. We’d really like to understand the complete story.

Don’t be dissuaded from applying because you have to check “yes.” Context and explanations matter—a LOT. We look for candor and thoughtfulness in your response. For a longer discussion about how a “yes” answer affects your application review, please check out episode 6 of the A2Z vlog.

11. Identity

Please read this certification carefully, and contact us if you have any questions at all.

AI has many uses, but your overarching goal for your essays should be to put your full humanity on display! And consider that one of the most universal skills required across the range of lawyerly specialties is writing; if drafting your essays feels like a burden, law may not be a career you end up enjoying.

That advice notwithstanding, we have added a new essay prompt designed to allow you to put your AI prowess on display, if you are so inclined. 😊

Experience

A one-page résumé sometimes lacks detail—about extracurricular activities, outside interests, hours devoted to particular endeavors, etc. We always like to know more, more, MORE. So if you need the elbow room, feel free to expand as needed (while still exercising your editorial sensibilities!).

Please provide a résumé showing: (A) full-time or significant part-time employment, paid or unpaid, beginning with your most recent, including the name and location of your employer, your job title, and the dates you held the position, along with any other contextual information (for example, the nature of your employer's work or your particular duties) you think will be useful; (B) significant extracurricular/non-work-related activities; (C) academic and non-academic honors and awards received, including fellowships, prizes, and memberships in honor societies; and (D) hobbies or special areas of interest or academic pursuits. If you are not presently enrolled in an educational institution, we would find it particularly helpful to know what you are doing now; whether you are working, volunteering, traveling, seeking employment, or anything else, please be sure to specify your current and planned activities prior to enrolling in law school.

NOTE: Documents should have password and security features removed.

We really like to know what our applicants are doing, so if you're not currently enrolled in school, please, please be sure to specify how you're spending your days. If you don't tell us, we have two options: either we have to contact you to ask and then wait for you to answer (which impedes our efforts at super-efficient decision making), or we just have to proceed on the assumption that you're doing something slightly sketchy. And we are very imaginative.

You know what they say about all work and no play, right? Part of the full picture of who you are is how you spend your non-work/study time, so please don't omit that information just because you are aiming to give us less to read!

Do you build model airplanes? Are you an ace poker player? Can you run a 6-minute mile? We don't/aren't/ can't, so this strikes us as intriguing and impressive, and invite you to communicate whatever you think is appropriate.

Personal Statement

As you prepare to write your personal statement, please keep the following in mind. First, we do not have a fixed checklist of particular attributes we seek in our students, and you will have the best insights into what is most important for us to know. Second, there is no set convention for communicating the information you choose to share. A successful essay might involve writing directly about expansive themes such as your goals or philosophy or background or identity, or very differently, might be a vignette that reveals something significant about you. Your personal statement gives us an opportunity to get a sense of your voice, perspective, and experiences, as well as your writing ability, and there is no particular formula to follow. Applicants have in the past elaborated on their significant life experiences; meaningful intellectual interests and extracurricular activities; factors inspiring them to obtain a legal education or to pursue particular career goals; significant obstacles met and overcome; special talents or skills; issues of identity, such as gender, sex, race, or ethnicity; particular political, philosophical, or religious beliefs; socioeconomic challenges; atypical backgrounds, educational paths, employment histories, or prior careers; or experiences and perspectives relating to discrimination, disadvantage, or disability. Any of these subjects, and many more, could be an appropriate basis for communicating authentic and genuine information about yourself that will aid us in reaching a thoughtful decision. In other words: Think broadly about what you might wish to convey and how you might best convey it.

While we do not impose a page or word limit for the personal statement, we value clear and concise writing; most personal statements are between two and four pages. For ease of reading, please use double-spacing and at least an 11-point font.

NOTE: Documents should have password and security features removed.

We often get asked, “What should I write about in my personal statement?” Unfortunately, the truthful answer is, “I don’t know.” After all, we don’t know you yet! But we take the personal statement very seriously, so please spend time thinking about what you most want us to know about you—more than any other part of our process, this is where we glean the answer to, “Why do we want to admit you?” For more guidance, you may want to check out the A2Z vlog, which has devoted many episodes to aspects of this topic.

Supplemental Essays

This section is optional.

Supplemental essays allow you an opportunity to provide us with relevant information that you were not able to include elsewhere in your application materials. If you think writing on any of the topics below would help us get a better sense of who you are, we encourage you to consider submitting your responses to one or two (but no more) of the following topics. Each essay should be between one and two pages. For ease of reading, please use double-spacing and at least an 11-point font. Please be sure to include the number of the prompt you are addressing at the top of your essay.

Essay One

Say more about your interest in the University of Michigan Law School. Why might Michigan be a good fit for you culturally, academically, or professionally?

Essay Two

One of the goals of our admissions process is to enroll students who will enrich the quality and breadth of the intellectual life of our law school community, as well as to expand and diversify the identities of people in the legal profession. How might your experiences and perspectives contribute to our admissions goals?

Essay Three

How has the world you came from positively shaped who you are today?

Essay Four

Describe a quality or skill or character trait you have and discuss how you expect it will help you in your legal career.

Essay Five

What is a closely held belief you have changed your mind about over time? Why?

Essay Six

If you had the ability to unilaterally legalize or criminalize something, what would it be and why?

Essay Seven

Describe a challenge, failure, or setback you have faced and overcome, whether long-term and systemic (e.g., socioeconomic, health, or complex family circumstances) or short-term and discrete (e.g., a workplace scenario or a particularly demanding course). How did you confront it? What, if anything, might you do differently?

Essay Eight

Think of someone who knows you, but doesn't know you well (i.e., not a family member or a close friend). How would they describe you? Would their description be accurate? Why or why not?

Essay Nine

If you could have dinner with any prominent person, living or dead, who would it be and why? What would you discuss?

Essay Ten - TO BE ANSWERED USING GENERATIVE AI

Discuss how you have used AI to solve a real-world problem. How was AI helpful, and how was it lacking? Going forward, how will you approach the use of such tools?

Please, please, please. Thank you.

Supplemental essays can be very helpful in our review process. While they are by no means required (certainly, many applicants are admitted without them—hence the “optional” designation!), we often get a completely new and helpful perspective from their more targeted focus. We offer a wide variety of choices in the hope that you will be able to select a topic that “speaks” to you.

Addendum

This section is optional.

If there is any information in your application you wish to clarify (for example, particular grades; a history of standardized testing that under-predicts your academic performance; gaps in employment) you may submit that information here. You may submit as many addenda as you need.
